PASSAGE OF THE GENEVA AWARD BILL

[From the Boston Journal.]

The best news that many people in our seaboard towns have heard for many days is the announcement that the Geneva Award bill has passed the Senate in the form in which it came from the House. The matter has been before Congress at every session for eight years, suffering defeat at some stage every year. It has at length secured legislative sanction, and only now awaits the approval of the President to give it the force of law. The friends of this measure cannot accord too much praise to Mr Reed and his associates in the House, whose influence secured an early consideration of the bill, and to Senators Hoar, Frye and others, by whose influence and able advocacy it was finally passed in the Senate by a vote of 38 to 12. It is but fair to add that every Republican in the Senate voted for the bill and that the twelve voting against it were Southern Democrats, except David Davis, of Illinois. The bill, as passed, gives the balance of the award, or as much of it as is necessary to settle the claims of those who lost vessels by the exculpated cruisers and those who paid war insurance premiums.

A WESTERN VIEW OF IT

[From the Cincinnati Gazette (Rep.)]

Of the seven New York papers which compose the New York Associated Press, all but the Tribune are hostile to Mr Blaine. So blinded were most of the leading New York journals by partisanship against Mr Blaine, that they took up the side of Mr Belmont in his attempt to falsify Blaine's despatches, and in his blustering threat to send Blaine a challenge, which in a cooler moment he thought better of. And now these members of the New York Associated Press have dismissed their agent at Washington because he permitted Blaine to correct the report of his testimony, as he had done Belmont and others. This is carrying partisanship to a high or a low degree?

THE GOVERNMENT WINS A MILLION

A Newark, N J despatch says: The famous Lewis will case has come to an end with a much better result to the Government than was expected after the prolonged litigation which resulted in sending several persons to jail and some extensive libel proceedings with a like result. The whole estate amounted in the end to nearly $1 400 000, all of which has been turned into cash. The West Indian heirs get about $300 000 and the Government has treated them with exceptional generosity since the marriage relations existing there among people of their class are so loose that it would only be with the utmost difficulty that any legal hardship could be established under our laws. The administration of the estate, counsel fees, the cost of the long litigation and the smaller legacies consume another $100 000, and the Government of the United States gets the remaining million. It will be remembered that Joseph L. Lewis left the residue of his estate, about $1 000 000, to be applied toward the extinguishment of the national debt. The will was contested for nearly three years by a woman falsely claiming to be the widow of the millionaire. After her fraud was exposed the will was admitted to probate and then an appeal was taken in behalf of the sisters and nephew, claiming the estate under certain old deeds of trust. While this was pending an act of Congress was passed reciting the claims and authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury and the Attorney General to compromise them. This was effected in January, 1881, on the basis of giving to the claimants one fourth of the net residue. The estate has increased by judicious investments during the litigation to such an extent as to pay the fourth awarded to the testator's relatives by the compromise and all the legacies and expenses and yet leave nineteenths of the amount to be applied to the national debt under the provisions of the will.

The Tribune says: "The country will not have to endure a repetition of the wearisome and irritating scenes that took place in Washington during two months last winter. The Court in Banc has denied the motion for a new trial for the wretched assassin of Garfield. It seemed a forgone conclusion that this would be the result. The verdict of guilty was just, and in accordance with the law and the evidence. It was clearly established that Guiteau committed a criminal act with deliberation and with a perfect understanding of what he was about. It is said that his counsel means to try to establish the assassin's irresponsibility by means of a commission de lunatico inquirendo. Recalling the expert testimony it is hard to see what he hopes to gain, except possibly a slight delay. At the trial the best specialists in the country watched in vain for the slightest sign of insanity. It seems likely that tardy justice will at last be done on June 30."

It is said that two wealthy persons, who are now preparing their wills, have made generous provision for the cause of the education of women at the Harvard "Annex."

No. 80.

In an article recently copied by us from the Chicago Tribune a paragraph which escaped attention until it was in type was calculated to convey the impression of some impairment of the cordial relations between Mr. Blaine and Senators Hale and Frye and Secretary Chandler. The intimation was entirely unwarranted and was the result of misinformation on the part of our Chicago contemporary, which would only have found place in our columns through oversight. Instead of any estrangement between Mr. Blaine and the gentlemen named, they are in the most friendly relations and would be surprised at any intimation to the contrary outside of the columns of opposition papers.

THE GENEVA AWARD

FULL TEXT OF THE BILL.

The following is the full text of the House bill re-establishing the Court Commissioners of Alabama Claims, and for the distribution of the unappropriated moneys of the Geneva Award, as it passed the Senate Tuesday without amendment. It now goes to the President for his approval.

"Be it enacted, etc. That the Court of Commissioners of Alabama Claims created by chapter 459 of the laws of the Forty third Congress is hereby re-established in the manner and with the obligations, duties and powers imposed and conferred by said chapter, except as changed or modified by this act.

Section 2. That the number of Judges for said Court to be nominated and appointed in the mode directed by section 2 of said chapter shall be three, each to receive the compensation provided by section 4 of said chapter. The presiding Justice shall be designated and vacancies filled as therein provided. The agreement of two of the Judges shall be necessary to decide any question arising before said Court, and said Court shall be allowed the necessary actual expenses provided for in said section. A clerk and reporter shall be appointed, and counsel for the United States designated as provided in sections 4 and 5 of said chapter, each to receive the compensation therein provided, and the Marshal of the United States for the District of Columbia or his deputies shall perform the duties prescribed in section 6 of said chapter.

Section 3. That the Judges of the Court hereby re-established shall convene and organize in the city of Washington as soon as practicable after their appointment, and the Court so organized shall exist two years, and all claims provable under this act shall be verified by or in behalf of the claimant and filed with the Clerk of said Court within six months from its organization or they shall be held to be waived and barred.

Section 4. That the practice and proceedings established and directed by said chapter 459 shall be followed and had in regard to all claims provable under this act, and it shall be the duty of the said Court hereby re established, in the mode and subject to all the conditions, limitations and provisions of said chapter 459 except as changed and modified by this act, to receive and examine the claims mentioned in section 5 of this act and to enter judgments for the amount allowed thereon in two classes.

Section 5. That the first class shall be for claims directly resulting from damage done on the high seas by Confederate cruisers during the late Rebellion, including vessels and cargoes attacked on the high seas, although the loss or damage occurred within four miles of the shore, excluding claims which have been proved pursuant to section 11 of said chapter 459. The second class shall be for claims for the payment of premiums for war risks whether paid to corporations, agents or individuals, after the sailing of any Confederate cruiser.

Section 6. That in examining claims in either class it shall be the duty of the Court to deduct any sum received by any claimant as an indemnity, dividend, set off, or otherwise so that the actual loss of such claimant only shall be allowed.

Section 7. That the judgments rendered by said court under this act shall be paid by the Secretary of the Treasury out of the sum of money paid to the United States pursuant to article 7 of the Treaty of Washington and accruing therefrom, not appropriated to claims proved under the provisions of said chapter 459, or any act extending the time for the filing of claims thereunder.

Section 8. That judgments entered in the first class shall be paid before judgments of the second class are paid. If the sum of money so unappropriated shall be insufficient to pay the judgments of the first class they shall be paid according to the proportions which they severally bear to the whole amount of such unappropriated sum. If such sum shall be sufficient to pay the judgments of the first class and not sufficient to pay the judgments of the second class, the latter judgments shall be paid according to the proportions which they severally bear to the residue of such unappropriated sum after the judgments entered in the first class are paid.

Section 9. That the said Court, after all its judgments and decisions have been rendered, shall transmit to the Secretary of State a list of such judgments and decisions, stating the class and amount, with interest at 4 per cent from the time the loss accrued to the 31st of March, 1877, a certified copy of which shall be by him transmitted to the Secretary of the Treasury, who shall thereafter, as soon as may be, and upon such notice and in such manner as he shall prescribe, pay the said judgments out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, provided however that such payments shall be made in accordance with the provisions of the preceding section, and provided, further, that the whole amount paid out shall not exceed the amount remaining of the Geneva award and interest as it was when actually covered in the treasury, and so much money as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section is hereby appropriated out of any moneys not otherwise appropriated.

Section 10. That all moneys necessary for the payment of the salaries of the judges and officers authorized by section 2 of this act and for the lawful expenses of the said Court hereby re-established, are hereby appropriated out of any moneys in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, all of which shall be reimbursed out of the said unappropriated moneys before any of the judgments rendered under this act shall be paid. And, after the reimbursement of all the expenses authorized by this act and the payment of all the judgments rendered thereunder, if there shall remain any part of the said money, the same shall be and remain a fund from which Congress may hereafter authorize payments of other claims thereon.

LIFE SAVING SERVICE.

The past season of the Life Saving Service began September 1, 1881, and ended April 27 of this year. During the above period 1,315 persons have been rescued by the crews of the Life Saving Stations, and vessels and cargoes saved valued at $1,700 923. The 201 disasters which occurred give the following aggregates. The total value of vessels was $1,553,090, the total value of cargoes was $663,233, the total value of vessels and cargoes, $2,261,323, value of vessels and cargoes saved, $1,700,923, total number of lives saved, 1,315, total number of lives lost on the coasts of Massachusetts, New Jersey and North Carolina, 14.

In the district comprising Maine and New Hampshire, the losses, etc., were as follows: Number of disasters, 34; value of vessels and cargoes, $154,000, saved, $142,070, lost, $11,930; lives saved, 173.

Massachusetts—Number of disasters, 22, value of vessels and cargos, $221,220, saved, $193,620; lost, $27,600; lives saved, 109.

Rhode Island and Long Island—Number of disasters, 13; value of vessels and cargoes, $86,075; saved, $36,080; lost, $50,215, lives saved, 68.

A special despatch to the Press says: "At a Republican caucus held in Vinalhaven, Saturday evening, the delegates chosen were instructed to vote for T. R. Simonton as one of the Representatives to Congress."

A niece of the late President Pierce is clerk in the Pension office in Des Moines.

Admiral John Coffin, who is believed to have been the oldest officer in point of service in the navy of Great Britain, is dead, in his ninety-third year. His father was that Gen. John Coffin who, as the London Times says, "did good service during the American war of independence," and his uncle, Admiral Sir Isaac Coffin, by whom he was first taken to sea in the year 1709 and placed aboard the Boston as a first class volunteer.

A series of coincidences observed in a Boston horse-car a few days ago is thus described by The Journal. "Seven young ladies were perceived in the car, of whom not one had both gloves on, and none were wholly bare-handed. Of these, four had gloves on their right hands and three on their left, and in every instance the ungloved hand lay in the lap above the other. All of the seven bare hands had diamond rings upon them, and whenever any attentions were needed by the hair or raiment of the ladies, in every instance the ungloved hand was employed to bestow them, and in the necessary movements the stones flashed and glittered very much. And when, as happened in process of time, the seven young ladies left the car, one after the other, four of them waved their left hands to the conductor to direct him to stop, and the other three agitated their right hands, and again the ring sparkled quite copiously. All of which was very curious and interesting to the scientific mind."

Reports say that Arkansas is witnessing one of the liveliest preliminary canvasses in its history. The Republicans have encouraging accounts of the party's condition, and the State Convention in July is likely to be well attended. Ex Congressman Snyder tips Hon. T. M. Gibson and W. D. Slack are the most prominent candidates for Governor. The dissensions in ranks of the Democracy do not seem to grow less as the time for selecting a State ticket approaches.

The flood on the lower Mississippi has not yet subsided and there are still vast areas of plantations submerged in Mississippi and Louisiana.

Two cases of arsenical poisoning by sleeping in a newly papered room in Cambridgeport, Mass., are said to have occurred last week. The manufacturers of the paper warmly dispute the correctness of the explanation of the illness.

Col. Wm. E. Barrows, of Hartford, Conn., whose enterprise as manager of the Willimantic Linen Company added so much to the success and attractiveness of the Atlanta exposition, has lately been chosen president of that company.

From 10 000 to 15 000 people assembled at Charlotte, N. C., on Saturday to celebrate the 107th anniversary of the declaration of independence by the people of Mecklenburg county, May 20, 1775. Senator Bayard, of Delaware, delivered an oration, and there was a fine civic and military display.

In his sermon of Sunday morning Henry Ward Beecher said: "Early marriages are the salvation of young men, and if a young woman doesn't love you enough to go down and live humbly with you and help you to work your way up she doesn't love you—leave the torment to somebody else!"

Ex-Governor Leland Stanford has placed in his San Francisco home the art collections purchased by him in Europe last year, comprising 30 pieces of statuary and 181 oil paintings and water colors. Among the paintings are full length portraits of Mrs. Stanford, by Bonnat, and of Leland Stanford, Jr., by Carolus Duran.

Senator Edmunds and Justice Harlan of the Supreme Court appear to have laid aside all the cares and dignified restraints of official life at Atlantic City. A correspondent says they are not unfrequently seen on the beach throwing clam shells with all the enthusiasm of schoolboys in the classic game of "duck on a rock."

Captain Bogardus, the famous wing shot, and his two sons are travelling with a circus company and giving exhibitions of their skill. One of the feats was the breaking of a glass ball held by the Captain by a rifle ball shot by his five year old son. A few days ago the little marksman made a miss and lodged a ball in the thumb of his sire, since which time that portion of the programme has been omitted.

The Marlin (Texas) Index reports a newly discovered food for horses in Falls County, that State. In the Brazos bottom grows a weed, in height 15 or 20 feet, that is said to be almost as nutritious as corn. It is called the "blood weed," from the fact that when broken there escapes a juice that is almost as red as blood. Many farmers feed their work stock but once a day with corn. The other two meals are made by "staking" on blood weed. There are many instances where crops are raised by feeding he work stock exclusively on his weed.

FORTY SEVENTH CONGRESS--First Session

Senate

WASHINGTON, May 24. The House joint resolution appropriating sixteen million dollars to supply a deficiency in the appropriations for army pensions the current fiscal year was passed.

The Naval Committee reported adversely the House bill to regulate prize money ... pensions in the navy, indefinitely postponed.

The Senate bill was passed for the relief of the officers and crew of the United States ... Monitor who participated in the action with the rebel iron-clad Merrimac.

Several Senate bills passed and the ... indemnity bill was taken up and ...d on the orders as unfinished business.

House

The request of the Senate for the return of the five per cent land bill was acceded to.

Mr. Calkins of Ind., rising to a question of personal privilege, sent to the clerk's desk and had read that portion of a letter written by Mr. Hewitt, of New York, to Mr. Manning, of Mich., which charges that the Committee on Elections ... to investigate the charges of ... preferred before the committee.

The Sprague Property.

PROVIDENCE, May 24. In the Supreme Court this afternoon the A. & W. Sprague matter again came up. Mr. Justice Stiness announced that owing to engagements in other counties the Court would not be prepared to give a decision in the Wilbour, Jackson & Co. contempt matter, but would give an opinion on the Trustee's last petition for instructions. After giving a general review of the case and referring to the failure of the proposed sale of the property ... This failure of course leaves the matter as it stood under our original decree and as it would have remained but for the intervention of the creditors themselves. Under that decree the Trustee is ... to sell the property in any of the ways authorized by the trust mortgage. If, however, the creditors are still desirous that the property be sold in bulk and the Trustee shall receive a satisfactory offer of that kind, a proviso, to save the trouble of a new application, may be added to our original decree, authorizing the acceptance of such offer upon terms substantially similar, except in amount, to those embodied in our order of March 22d."

ILLINOIS.

Doyle's Counterfeit Bonds.

CHICAGO, May 24. The fact has been developed that some of the bonds taken from Doyle when arrested here have found their way into circulation again here and at Peoria, and perhaps elsewhere. Five of them are known to have been sold here. This was a couple of months after Doyle's arrest. The Government official here received instructions from Washington to let the matter alone as the department was working the case. Meantime word of the matter got out, the bonds were taken from here and sold in New York to Billy Tracy. It is said these facts were known to several officials and one or two Congressmen.

FIENDS FRUSTRATED

By a Brave Young Man.

NEW YORK, May 24. A young man named Wall, going home near Madison, Conn., about midnight, while walking on the track of the Shore Line, heard the pounding of a hammer and on proceeding up the road he found a large number of ties placed across the track and nailed down. He began to remove them, as the mail train from New York for Boston was soon due. He was fired upon by parties in ambush, wounding him in the leg and breaking his arm. He found he could not remove the obstruction, but having a small lantern he went down the road waving it and stopped the train. He was taken aboard and the train hands removed the obstructions. His wounds were attended by a physician on the train, but he declined to be taken to Boston and remained on the track after the train proceeded to Boston. The ruffians again replaced the obstructions to throw the train due from Boston to New York, but he signalled this also, stopping it and the obstructions were removed by the train hands, thus saving the train from destruction.

Another Account.

NEW HAVEN, May 24. This morning there was an unusual attempt to wreck the Shore Line "Owl" train that leaves this city at 12 45 A. M., for New London. An obstruction was placed on the pile bridge between Madison and East River and consisted of two large railroad ties which were put between the ties on the bridge and which projected up over the level of the track about three feet. The bridge is 200 feet long and spans a small sheet of salt meadow between Madison and East River. An embankment about thirty feet deep is upon either side of the track and but for a fortunate discovery of the obstruction there would have been a disastrous railroad accident. The train runs at about thirty miles an hour through this section of the road and there is a lower grade that tends to increase the speed. A long curve is met just after passing the East River station, and in all probability it would have been a difficult thing for the engineer to observe the obstruction until he was either a few feet of where it was placed, and then it would have been too late to prevent the train from crashing into the projecting ties. Charles J. Wall, station agent at East River, aged 21, was the person who discovered the obstruction and then warned the two trains as stated in the New York despatch.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Independent Republican Convention.

PHILADELPHIA, May 24. The Independent State Convention organized temporarily this morning with Senator Mitchell as chairman. Afterwards a brief address was given by the chairman, who said he sympathized with the Independent movement and that the only effective remedy will be found in the civil service system. After the call of delegates, the committee on permanent organization reported Hon. H. C. Foster for permanent chairman of the convention, one vice-president from each Senatorial district and the temporary secretary. The report was unanimously adopted.

After remarks by a few speakers denunciatory of bossism, the committee on rules reported a platform, the reading of which was frequently interrupted by applause which certain planks, especially these condemning bosses and the spoils system elicited. After a short speech Major Merrick nominated for Governor ex-Chief Justice Agnew. Dr. Doane nominated Senator John Stewart. Hon. Wayne MacVeagh's name was proposed but was withdrawn, after several delegates had declared that MacVeagh would not accept. The nominations were then closed and the convention at 2:20 P. M. adjourned for an hour.

After Recess

Judge Agnew's name was withdrawn, as there was some doubt whether he would accept. A ballot was then taken, resulting —Senator Stewart, 139; Agnew, 82. Stewart's nomination was then made unanimous. The balance of the ticket was then completed as follows, various delegates making speeches as the several candidates were proposed. Lieut. Governor, Levi Bird Duff, of Alleghany; Congressman at large, Col. Wm. McMichael, Philadelphia; Secretary of Internal Affairs, Major Merrick, Tioga; Supreme Judge, Geo. Donkin, Philadelphia.

Among the candidates for the latter office was Judge Lawlor, of Philadelphia, and an excited discussion ensued upon the presentation of his name on the ground he was a Democrat. The chair finally decided that under the resolution pursuant to which the the convention was called and which provided for the nomination of "a full Independent Republican ticket," his name could not be received, and this decision was supported by the convention. In response to calls for Senator Stewart, nominee for Governor, he responded in a brief speech in which he accepted the nomination.

After considerable discussion a resolution calling on the Legislature to submit to a popular vote the proposed amendment to the State Constitution prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors was inserted in the platform. Col. Duff, Chas. S. Wolf and Senator Mapes addressed the convention. A motion that the Independents should hereafter style themselves the Garfield Republican party after provoking considerable debate was finally withdrawn. The convention then adjourned sine die.

THE RECENT FLOODS.

A Serious Situation.

LITTLE ROCK, May 24. Gen. Morgan, State agent for distribution of supplies on the Arkansas side of the Mississippi river, during the late overflow, writes Governor Churchill that the second overflow was nearly as disastrous as the first. He says more than three-fourths of bottom lands of Phillips county is now under water, and no prospect of it being out before the last of June. His information is that Desha county is in about the same condition; also a portion of Lee, Monroe and Crittenden counties. The suffering among the laborers in these counties will be greater than ever before known. They are nearly all negroes.

ARIZONA.

A Desperate Fight.

TOMBSTONE, May 24. The Epitaph to-morrow will publish an account of a fight at Igos Ranch, on the line of the Arizona & New Mexico Railroad, near the Sonora border, between American railroad laborers and Mexicans, in which seven Mexicans were killed and several wounded and it is expected three will die.

THE WEATHER.

WAR DEP'T, OFFICE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER, Washington, D. C., May 25—(1 A. M.)

Indications.

For New England: Increasing cloudiness; local rains; variable winds; stationary or lower temperature and pressure.

FATAL EXPLOSION.

SEVERAL PERSONS KILLED.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., May 24. An explosion occurred this afternoon in the colliery at Heckscherville. Six miners were taken out dead and the number of victims may reach ten or more.

Later.

The men were working in No. 1 left west gangway, at the bottom of a new slope, which was 700 feet from the top of the shaft when a fall of top rock occurred, forcing the sulphur down and it quickly ignited from a naked light. The force of the explosion was terrific. Men were hurled along the gangway and dashed against timbers, mutilating their bodies horribly so as to be almost unrecognizable. A number of men received serious but not fatal injuries. The news of the accident was first brought out by the men who escaped the shock and spread like wildfire. Hundreds of people rushed to the shaft, business men closed their stores and scenes of confusion and excitement ensued. In the crowd were many women and children, relatives of the men employed inside. As the burned and mutilated bodies were brought up the excitement increased and many women fainted, while others had to be taken away by force. It is now believed the dead and injured are all out and the excitement about the mine in some respects subsided.

NEW YORK.

Discharged.

NEW YORK, May 24. John Bowen, charged with the larceny of coupon notes, drafts, etc., from the bank, messenger of the Mechanics National Bank, aggregating $40,000, was acquitted to-day. He proved an excellent character, producing a strong letter of recommendation from President Andrew Johnson to Hon. Hannibal Hamlin.

Baptist Convention.

The address of welcome at the National Baptist Convention was delivered to-day at the First Baptist Church by Rev. Dr. Peddee, president of the American Home Baptist Missionary Society. The reports of the Executive Committee shows $415,-619 collected last year. The debt of $29,-955 36, with which the Society began the year, was paid and there is a balance in the treasury of $7,612 70. The reports then refer to the work in Chinese, Indian, Mexican, German, French, Scandinavian and Freedmen's Missions. The obituary committee reported that during the year thirteen life directors and twenty-seven life members had passed away.

The annual meeting of the Womens' Home Mission Society was held to-day in the First Baptist church. Among the speakers were Mrs. Hunt, of Augusta, Maine, who spoke of the necessity of woman's mission work.

The Herald Sued for Libel.

Senator McPherson, of New Jersey, has begun proceedings for libel against the New York Herald, on the charge that McPherson had received certain shares in the Peruvian Company.

A Sealed Verdict.

The jury in the case of Gen. Curtis, indicted for receiving contributions for political purposes, his evening brought in a sealed verdict. No indication as to its nature.

CONDENSED DESPATCHES.

The health of Senator Ben Hill is greatly improved and his physicians say there is hope of a cure or that his life will be greatly prolonged.

A Nashville despatch says the Governor has signed the bill to fund the State debt at sixty cents with interest at 3, 4, 5 and 6 per cent.

The Republican Congressional Convention of the third Kansas district nominated Thomas Ryan for re-election by acclamation.

Hon. John Anderson, of Kansas, has been unanimously renominated for Congress by the Republicans of his district.

A Hartford despatch says: Chief of Police Packard and a Canadian officer started for Canada yesterday with the murderer, Wm. Richards, charged with killing Jackson at Abercron last July.

FOREIGN NEWS.

AFFAIRS IN IRELAND.

LONDON, May 24. In Commons, Dillon resumed debate on the repression bill. Mr. Gladstone severely denounced Dillon for endorsing the outrages by refusing to assist the Government in carrying the bill. Dillon declared he had always denounced the outrages. Gladstone replied with great passion. After severe denunciation of the bill by several Home Rule members, the debate, on motion to go into committee on the repression bill, was again adjourned till to-morrow. The utterances of Dillon that provoked Gladstone's attack implied that the evictions were more culpable than outrages.

"MAINE AS A SUMMER RESORT." A neat little pamphlet publication with the above title has been recently issued by the Maine Central Railroad. The many advantages which our State possesses as a resort for summer tourists are graphically called to the attention of the public in this interesting work. The enterprising managers of the Maine Central are doing much to bring into prominence the manifold attractions which Maine offers. The interest in our various seaside and inland resorts is rapidly growing and there is excellent prospect of a much larger travel to our State this summer than ever before.

THE CELEBRATION. The subject of a celebration in Bangor on the Fourth of July is being actively agitated and is receiving the endorsement of our citizens generally. The desirability of a celebration is universally acknowledged and if active measures are immediately inaugurated a programme which will be a credit to our city can be perfected. Subscription papers have been started and are in the hands of some of our most enterprising and energetic business men. It is to be hoped that our merchants and citizens generally will respond liberally and thus assure pronounced success. The city will be called upon for something of an appropriation and it is to be expected they will be prompt in their response. A celebration can be easily arranged, without very great expense being entailed and we trust earnest and vigorous action will be taken by our patriotic citizens to bring about this consummation.

PENOBSCOT FISHERIES. Census Bulletin No. 278, being the statistics of the fisheries of Maine, has recently been issued. In the tabulated statement regarding river fisheries we find the following as the business of Penobscot bay and its tributaries. The total number of persons employed is 406; value of apparatus and outfit, 27,016; total product for 1880—pounds sold 770,863; value, $40,514. In the salmon, shad and alewives fishery, 181 men are employed, with 217 weirs, 36 gill nets, 20 dip nets; the apparatus valued at $18,116. The product was—salmon 9,208 lbs. value, $19,752; shad 800 fish, value, $40, alewives, number used fresh, 18,000; smoked, 667,000; barrels salted, 17, value, $4,823—Total value of the three, $24,616. The smelt fishery employs 251 men, with 4 weirs and 141 dip nets, valued at $8,750. The total product was, 266 875 lbs., worth $14,579. The eel fishermen number 29, and use 4 traps and 25 spears, worth $150. They captured 9000 lbs., and sold them for $540. The product of the other river fisheries of our bay and its tributaries was: bass, 1,000 lbs., worth $100; tom-cod, 177-000 lbs. $680.

MAINE'S FAVORITE SINGER. A few months ago an enterprising Chicago paper published an account of Miss Cary's alleged betrothal to Mr. Lorillard, the millionaire tobacco manufacturer of New York, which account gave very minute details of Miss Cary's family relations. The rumor originated through a reporter overhearing Miss Cary jokingly tell Mrs. Osgood, the soprano soloist, some chatty gossip, in which the name of Mr. Lorillard was mentioned. Miss Cary has never met, nor even seen, Mr. Lorillard. It is true, however, that Miss Cary is engaged to be married, and the fair contralto, who has grown so close to the hearts of the American people, is now wearing the betrothal ring, which will soon be exchanged for the wedding emblem. It is definitely known that the lucky gentleman is a Mr. Raymond, a New York broker, and a gentleman of wealth and refinement and the highest social standing. It can not be ascertained just when the marriage is to occur, but all indications point to its consummation at a time not further distant than the coming summer or fall. It is also reported by those who are in a position to know, that Mr. Raymond is exceedingly, and quite properly, jealous of the lavish affection of the public for Miss Cary, and it is through his most earnest entreaties that she has decided to permanently abandon the lyric stage during the present season.

One of the workmen employed in White & Rollins' soap manufactory yesterday afternoon jammed two of his fingers quite badly in a press used for stamping soap.

AMUSEMENTS.

Joseph Jefferson.

Since our announcement yesterday morning of a change in the performances of the Jefferson engagement, the agent of the company has arrived in town, and the Opera House manager has persuaded him to give the performances as at first announced, namely, "Rip Van Winkle" on Saturday afternoon and "The Rivals" on Saturday evening. This course seems to meet with the general approbation of our citizens. The sale of seats yesterday for both performances was very heavy; in fact the largest since the opening of the Opera House. Good seats, however, may still be secured.

Thos. W. Keene.

There continues to be a good demand for seats for "Richard III." to-morrow evening and the audience gives promise of being one of the largest of the season. "Richard" is considered by many as Keene's greatest part and with his fine support a rare treat is certainly in store for the lovers of tragedy.

THE ALL-RAIL LINE.

Something About a Railroad Bridge at St. John.

[From the Boston Herald.]

The railroad systems and service of the lower Canadian provinces are of the very best. The Intercolonial railway, a system of nearly 1000 miles of iron, has few equals and perhaps no superior in America in points of construction and keeping; and other provincial lines partake of the same distinguishing characteristics. The railway service of those sections reach every important manufacturing and producing interest, and afford the most ample means of transit and communication for the people of their localities.

Nevertheless, the provincial rail lines have to contend with competition which is singularly effective in its operation, and which is as remorseless as the grave in paralyzing the best and most ambitious efforts of railway management. The water service of the Provinces is, perhaps, the most complete of any section of the country known, and river and harbor, bay and basin, surround and permeate and intersect the whole region to an extent which makes it almost warrantable to say that every farm may have its coasting schooner attached, and that for every barrel of potatoes raised or carload of lumber sawed there is a water craft especially delegated to convey the same to market. The provincial coasting and trading fleet may well be called "vast," nor have the revolutions, which have largely done away with such a condition of things in the State, as yet been operative to produce like results in this "down East" section. But the world moves, and the experience of civilized and commercial peoples are repeated again and again, sooner or later, according to the disposition and characteristics encountered in the march of events.

FROM BOSTON TO ST. JOHN.

The nearest points of connection between the railroads of New England and those of the Provinces are at St. John, on opposite banks of the river. To be sure, between Vanceboro (a border town in Maine) and Carleton (on the west bank of the St. John river, opposite the city of St. John), there is a rail road of 90 and odd miles in length, situated wholly in provincial territory; but this railroad (the St. John & Maine) is so plainly an extension of a New England road and so practically a part of it, that the real provincial system may fairly be reckoned as lying entirely eastward of the St. John river. Really there is no immediate connection of the rails of the provincial with those of the New England systems, from the fact that the St. John river, before mentioned, rolls between the two, and as yet no railroad bridge spans its waters. This last-named circumstance is of immense importance in estimating the railroad situation of the region.

In years past there has undoubtedly existed considerable jealousy on the part of the officials of the Intercolonial and other provincial roads, lest the lower New England and connecting roads should divert passenger and freight traffic of the Provinces from the northern and western Canadian roads, and they looked accordingly with distrust upon the New England connection. It is fair to say that that state of things has passed away, and a new era has been harmoniously inaugurated.

Glancing now at the New England situation a consolidation or combination of working interests will be found as follows. Between Boston and St. John (or Carleton) a continuous line of railroad is found, made up of the Eastern railroad, from Boston to Portland, the Maine Central, from Portland to Bangor; the European & North American, from Bangor to Vanceboro, and the St. John & Maine, from Vanceboro to Carleton—in all, 460 miles of continuous rail line, unbroken by ferries or transfers. The St. John & Maine was originally a part of the European & North American railroad, but it is now a separate organization, owned in England, and not a government railway, as are most of the members of the provincial system.

THE ALL-RAIL LINE.

Thus the railroad lines above named constitute the present Provincial & New England all-rail line, but not the proposed "all rail line" of the future. Up to the present time the waters of the St. John river, flowing between the termini of the Provincial and New England systems at St. John, have effectually prevented any exact union of the two systems, or any further extension of the all-rail connection. This being the case, it is obvious enough that only a railroad bridge is needed at St John to complete the connection and extend the all-rail line indefinitely into the Provinces. Such a bridge was long since projected, has been assiduously labored for, and now seems likely to become an accomplished fact. That the present all rail line desires such a bridge goes without saying. The people of St John and neighborhood are united in not only desiring but urging it, and the officials of the whole provincial system are now wide-awake to its importance and utility, and look with something like enthusiasm toward its establishment. Moreover, the parties most competent and best situated to realize the scheme have now awakened and taken action in the matter, and apparently good results are near at hand, as will be seen presently.

The necessity for a bridge will be seen by examining more closely the situation. In 1881 the all-rail line took from the Intercolonial railway, and transported to Boston for distribution (considerable of this freight goes on to New York) upward of 1000 tons of frozen fresh smelt. During the summer of the same year the line carried upward of 400 tons of fresh salmon, received in the same way. This fresh fish business has, indeed, become immense between the Provinces and the States, viewed relatively. Now, every barrel of the smelt, and every individual of the salmon, has to be removed from the Intercolonial cars at St John, transported across the river to the terminus of the St. John & Maine road, repacked and re-iced and loaded anew upon the cars of the all-rail line; a process which is vexatious and delaying enough with any class of freight, but especially so with fresh fish, beside being prejudicial to value and enhancing cost and final prices. With a bridge across the river at this point all this manipulation would have been avoided, five minutes would have landed the cargo on the opposite bank and it would have reached Boston or New York many hours earlier, without having broken bulk or received disturbance.

OTHER PECULIARITIES OF THE SITUATION.

And so hay and potatoes and lumber and other products of the Provinces, if sent at all by rail into New England, have to undergo these processes of breaking bulk and ferriage across the river before they can receive final shipment. But this is not the only important feature of the case. On account of the delay and expense of this transfer, the water craft, swarming as has been said in this vicinity, secure the carriage of much of the freight, and manage, slow and uncertain as are their methods of transportation, to almost monopolize the traffic, which the railroads would surely get, but for these drawbacks. In the fall of 1881 steamers transported upward of 50,000 barrels of potatoes from the Provinces; during the same time the railroads carried about 20,000 barrels. Had there been a railroad bridge across the river at St. John the roads would have carried 90 per cent. of all this freight. Also, vessels freighted more than 600 tons of grindstones that season from Miramichi. The railroads would have carried all had there been a bridge. And the same applies to bark, bark extract, hay, etc., great products of the internal regions of the Provinces. It needs no argument or special presentation to show how great would be the influence upon production, or the stimulus to trade, were the all-rail facilities extended, as they might so easily be, to every section of the provincial region.

THE BRIDGE.

When the matter of a railroad bridge at St. John was first broached as a practical scheme, it was proposed that the New England roads should build it, and take possession of its toll and income as remuneration. While the roads in question were not entirely unwilling to assume this enterprise, it was manifestly not the best or most feasible way to carry out the plan; and, in the course of time, negotiations in this line were dropped. Obviously, the corporation best situated to secure this enterprise is the St. John & Maine railroad, the terminal factor in the present all-rail line. This corporation thoroughly appreciates the situation, and is wide awake to the interests which would be served by the bridge establishment. Its manager has just returned from a visit to England, where he has been to confer with the owners of the St. John & Maine, and to arrange, if possible, for the construction of the bridge under their auspices. While the details and results of his conference cannot all be given, it is sufficient to say here that he was eminently successful in his mission, and it is understood that, as a principal result, the building of the bridge may soon be looked for. It will be remembered that the Dominion government is liberal in its assistance and subsidizing of provincial railways enterprises, and nothing would be more natural than that its helping hand may be extended in the present instance. At all events, earnest, energetic, pushing men are now behind the enterprise, and it will not be allowed to fall or fail until the desired end is reached.
